Introduction

The IEU Library provides access to a wide range of academic and professional resources designed to support study, research, and teaching. Through the Library portal, the university community can consult specialized databases, explore the Premium Press collection for high-quality news and analysis, and access the High Interest Journal List, which brings together the most relevant scholarly publications in these fields.

The Library Catalog offers books, eBooks, and other materials across disciplines, ensuring comprehensive coverage of both classic and contemporary scholarship. These resources are complemented by tools and guides that help users navigate information efficiently, making it easier to find reliable, updated, and relevant content.

Together, these services ensure that students, faculty, and staff can strengthen their academic work, stay informed about current debates in the Humanities, and deepen their understanding of key issues in culture, history, art, language, and thought.

Catalog

01 Main Page

The IEU Library Catalog, powered by WorldCat Discovery, is the main search tool for finding academic resources. Searching in the Catalog offers several advantages:

- Single search point: books, eBooks, journals, articles, and other resources can be located in one place.
- Beyond IE holdings: if an item is not available at IEU Library, you can see which other libraries worldwide hold it.
- Multilingual records: materials are indexed in nearly 500 languages, including English, Spanish, French, German, and Chinese.
- Interlibrary loan: items that are not in our collection can often be requested from partner libraries.
- Up to date: records are continuously added, making new publications quickly discoverable.

The Catalog is therefore the most efficient way to explore both IEU Library's own resources and millions of holdings from libraries around the world.

The screenshot shows the IEU Library Catalog interface. A search bar at the top contains the text "art history". Below the search bar, a sidebar on the left lists various filter options, with the first one, "Recomendada", being selected. The main search results page displays a list of items, with the first result being "The Social History of Art" by Arnold Hauser. The result page includes details such as the author, a thumbnail image of the book, and a "Ver libro electrónico" button. A callout box labeled "1" points to the search bar. Another callout box labeled "2" points to the "Ver libro electrónico" button. A callout box labeled "3" points to the sidebar with the "Recomendada" filter selected. A callout box labeled "4" points to the "Check if it's available and click on 'View ebook'" text. A blue bar on the right side of the screen says "Log in with your IE credentials!". A blue box at the bottom left says "User any filter if needed".

Description

Product design criticism operates at the very brink of the landfill site, salvaging some products with praise but consigning others to its depths through condemnation or indifference. When a designed product's usefulness is past, the public happily discards it to make room for the next new thing. Criticism rarely deals with how a product should be used, or even could have been. It is more likely to infer that available improvements are sufficient to

The IEU Library's eBook collections allow users to read online or download content for offline access. You can usually download individual chapters in PDF format, or, if you prefer to download the entire book, you will need to install Adobe Digital Editions. This free application enables you to read eBooks on your device.

Just so you know, licenses vary between publishers, which means that some eBooks may only be available for a limited loan period. After that time, the file will automatically expire and disappear from your device; however, you can always download it again whenever you need it.

03 Cite directly from the catalog

The IEU Library catalog can automatically generate citations for you, making the referencing process much easier and more accurate. Follow these simple steps to cite and manage your saved resources efficiently:

1

Generate a citation

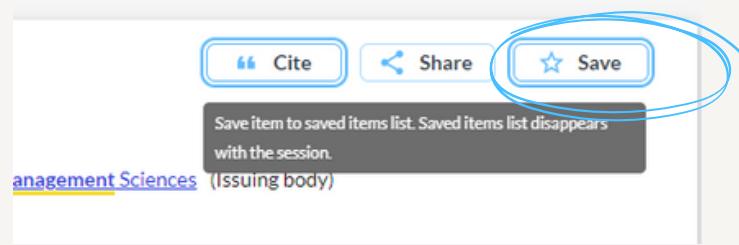

When viewing any item in the catalog, click on the “Cite” button. A list of citation styles (APA, MLA, Chicago, etc.) will appear. Select your preferred style and copy the formatted reference directly into your document.

2

Save items for later

If you are conducting a broad search and wish to keep several documents, click the star icon (“SAVE”) next to each record. It is very important not to close the browser tab during this process, as your saved items will disappear once the session ends.

3

Access your saved items

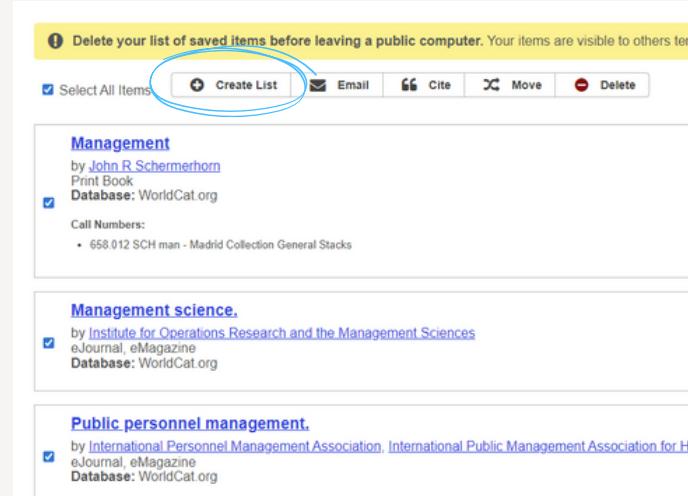

★ Saved Items (3)

When you have finished selecting materials, go to the top right corner of the catalog and click “Saved items.” There, you will find a list of all the resources you have saved in your current session.

Create or update a list

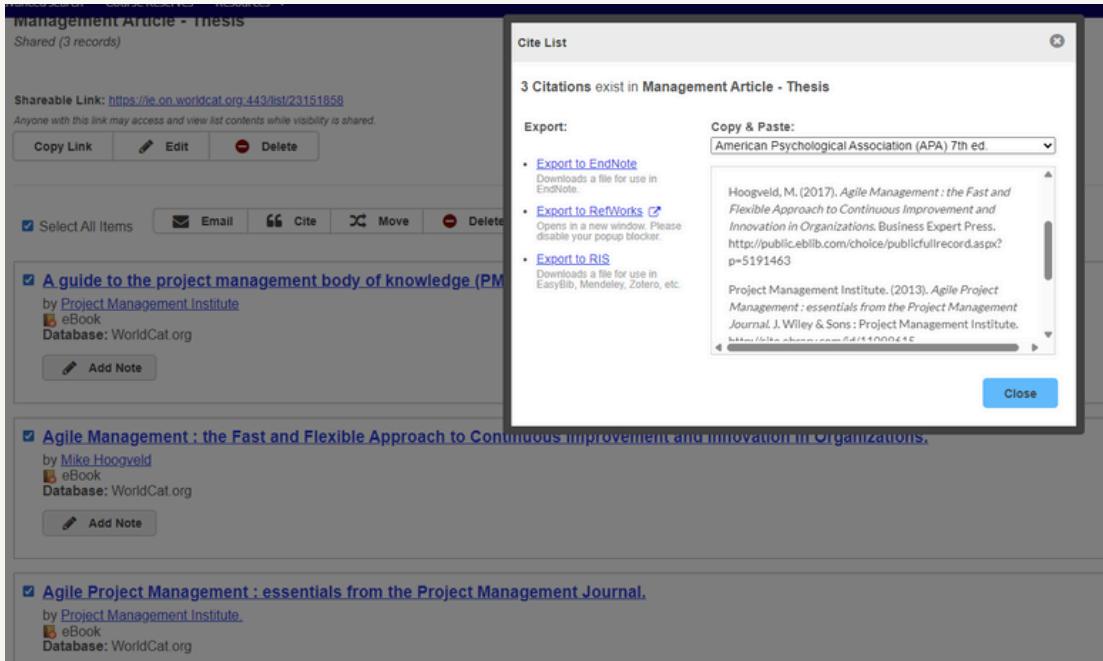

To keep these items permanently, you must add them to a list. If you already have a list, select the desired items and click “Move” to add them. If you do not have one yet, click “Create list” and assign it a name. This will allow you to organize and retrieve your resources later.

5

Cite or export your list

From within your list, you can generate complete citations for all the resources you have added or export them directly to EndNote for easier reference management.

Other Citation tools

Accurate citation is essential to maintain academic integrity and give proper credit to original authors. Bibliographic managers are tools that help you collect, organise, and cite references efficiently. They allow you to import records from catalogs or databases and create bibliographies in styles such as APA, MLA, or Chicago. The IEU Library supports three main reference managers:

- EndNote Online Classic: cloud-based software to collect, organize, and manage references. It also imports records directly from WorldCat.
- Mendeley: manages bibliographies, adds in-text citations, and allows collaboration among researchers. Available online and as a desktop app.
- Zotero: open-source tool to collect and organize sources, available for web or desktop use, with additional features like ZoteroBib for quick citation creation.

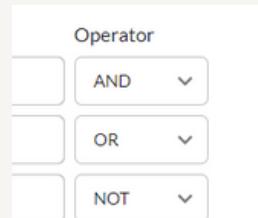

04 Advanced Research

The Advanced Search option in the IEU Library catalog allows users to perform more precise and efficient searches, helping them locate materials that best fit their academic or research needs. This tool is especially useful when looking for specific resources, combining several topics, or filtering results by different criteria.

The image shows a screenshot of the 'Advanced search' interface. At the top, it says 'Advanced search'. Below that is a section titled 'Search for' with three dropdown menus: 'Search index' (set to 'Keyword (kw:)'), 'Search terms' (empty), 'Title (ti:)', and 'Author (au:)'. Each dropdown has a small downward arrow icon to its right.

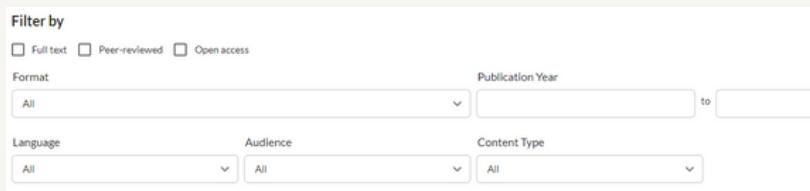

The advanced search form includes multiple search boxes that can be combined using Boolean operators such as AND, OR, and NOT. These operators make it possible to connect or exclude terms to refine the search results. For instance, using AND will narrow the search by including only results that contain both terms, while OR will expand it by including resources containing either one. NOT, on the other hand, can be used to exclude specific concepts or subjects that are not relevant to your research.

The image shows a screenshot of the 'Operator' section. It has three buttons: 'AND' (selected), 'OR', and 'NOT'. Each button has a small downward arrow icon to its right.

Additionally, users can specify where the catalog should search for each keyword by selecting a particular field, such as Title, Author/Creator, Subject, or ISBN/ISSN. This feature is particularly helpful when searching for known items or when trying to focus on a specific aspect of a topic.

A wide range of filters are also available to refine search results further. These include material type, language, subject, and publication date. The Publication Date filter allows users to limit their search to specific years or to define a custom date range based on their personal research needs. For example, you may wish to focus only on recent studies published in the last five years or, conversely, include older materials for a more historical perspective. Adjusting this range ensures that your search results are as relevant and up-to-date, or as comprehensive, as required for your topic.

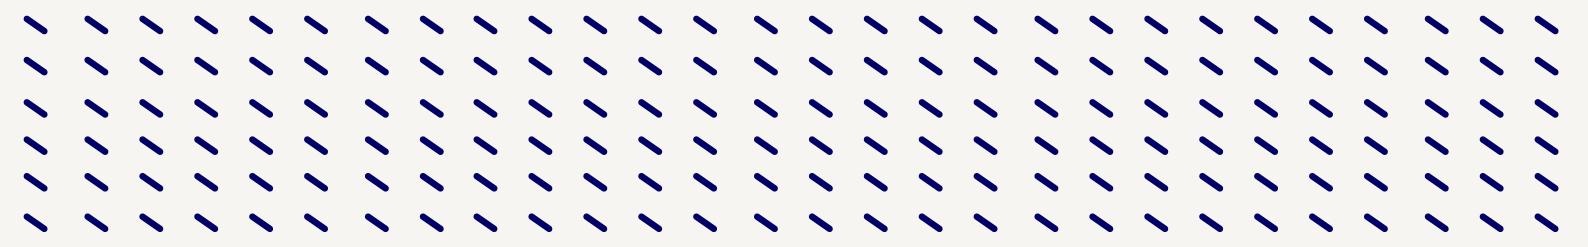

The image shows a 'Filter by' section of an advanced search interface. It includes the following fields:

- Full text, Peer-reviewed, Open access (checkboxes)
- Format (dropdown: All)
- Publication Year (input fields: from, to)
- Language (dropdown: All)
- Audience (dropdown: All)
- Content Type (dropdown: All)

Once the search has been completed, results can be sorted by relevance, title, or date, allowing users to browse them in a way that best suits their needs. Each record provides detailed information about the resource, including its availability, location, and access options (print or online).

The Advanced Search option is therefore ideal for conducting in-depth research, combining multiple criteria, and identifying high-quality academic materials efficiently within the IEU Library catalog.

05 Manage your profile

What I see in my profile?

Within the IEU Library Catalog, the Manage Your Profile section allows you to view and personalise all aspects of your library account. It helps you keep track of your activity, manage your loans, and ensure you receive important updates about your materials and requests.

Here's what you can do from this section:

- Checkouts: View all your current loans, including due dates and renewal options. This is the easiest way to keep track of the books and materials you have borrowed.
- Requests: Monitor the status of your Interlibrary Loan submissions. You can check whether your request has been approved, shipped, or is ready for pickup.
- Sanctions: During Sanction Days, your borrowing, renewing, and reserving privileges will be temporarily suspended..
- Search Activity: Access a record of your previous searches in the catalog. This is especially useful when you want to revisit a search or refine a query you ran earlier.
- Borrowing History: Review a list of your previous loans, helping you remember titles you've borrowed before or cite them later in your research.
- Profile Settings: Keep your contact information up to date and activate notifications to receive alerts about due dates, holds, or new materials available for pickup.

By regularly checking your profile, you can make the most of the IEU Library Catalog, stay organized with your loans and requests, and ensure you never miss an important update.
